OTTAWA (CP) — The Commons likely will begin morning sittings next week in the customary late-session drive to prorogue by Dec. 15, it was learned today.

This would mean three sittings a day—11 a.m. to 1 p.m., 2 p.m. to 4 p.m., and 7 p.m. to 9 p.m.—Monday through Friday. Arrangements already have been made to restrict debates.

27 Die in Crash

LONDON (Reuter) — Twenty-two passengers and five crew members were killed today when a Liberator aircraft, bound for India, crashed into Blackdown Hill on the border of Somerset and Devon counties.

The plane apparently did not attain sufficient height to clear the hillside, struck a tree, caught fire and crashed.

Burned to Death

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Trapped by flaming dust while cleaning a four-foot square hospital air shaft, a workman burned to death today before his charred body plunged 10 floors to the basement.

Big Power Project

TORONTO (CP) — Premier George Drew this afternoon announced an agreement has been reached between the governments of Ontario and Quebec to start development of a power site on the upper Ottawa River "at once." The program is the start of the Hydro-Electric Power Commission of Ontario's five-year $200,000,000 postwar plan, and is expected to employ more than 15,000.

Premier Drew's announcement was made after his return from Montreal this morning, where he conferred with Premier Maurice Duplessis.

Some Pensions Boosted

OTTAWA (CP) — Veterans' Minister Mackenzie today announced the Canadian Pension Commission, after lengthy research and study, had authorized an upward revision of pension payable for certain disabilities effective from Oct. 1 this year. One such change increased the rate of pension for total deafness of both ears from 50 to 80 per cent.

Eisenhower Has Cold

WASHINGTON (AP) — A severe cold may keep Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower from returning to Europe tomorrow as he had planned.

Appearing before the House foreign affairs committee today in support of a bill to give Unruh another $1,350,000, the newly designated army chief of staff reported he was not feeling well.

Indonesians to Talk With British Only

BATAVIA (AP) — An atmosphere of tense unrest pervaded Java today as leaders of the unrecognized "Indonesian Republic" announced they would refuse to meet with Netherlands East Indies officials "so long as the Dutch keep their present attitude."

The announcement apparently ended hopes for a conference of Nationalist leaders and Dutch officials with Lt. Gen. Sir Philip Christison as chairman, scheduled for tonight.

The Indonesians made it clear they were willing to negotiate—but with the British authorities alone.

An Indonesian spokesman said that "when the Dutch give an order for the cessation of shooting and when the burning of our villages and murdering of our people are stopped by the Dutch, then we shall be willing to talk with them."

He took a grave view of recent bloodshed in Batavia. In the past 24 hours at least a score of Indonesians were killed in fighting in this capital, and sniping and intermittent attacks continued.

Princess Margaret Has Appendix Out

LONDON (CP) — Princess Margaret Rose underwent an operation for appendicitis today. It was announced at Buckingham Palace. Her condition was described as satisfactory.

The operation was performed in Princess Margaret's own room in the palace between 9 and 10 a.m. today. The decision to operate had been made late Wednesday night.

World File of Nazi Members

The huge pile of records shown in this exclusive NEA photo is stated to be the master file of Nazi party members throughout the world. Stacked almost to the ceiling in a Munich paper mill vault, plans for their destruction were foiled. Examining some of the records are shown Lt.-Col. Joseph Hensel, head of the Upper Bavaria Allied Military Government; Anny Kemeter, former Dachau prisoner credited with finding the first of the file, and Maj. William B. Browne of Portland, Ore., who uncovered the remainder of it.

Nazi Chiefs Shocked, Surprised To Hear What Prosecution Knows

NUERNBERG (AP) — A score of high Nazis listened in shocked surprise today while U.S. prosecutors told the international tribunal how the Nazis plotted and seized power in Germany, killing or imprisoning any who opposed them.

An affidavit signed by Wilhelm Frick, once "Protector of Bohemia and Moravia," the day before the trial opened told how Hermann Goering carried out the 1934 blood purge in northern Germany on Hitler's orders, after Heinrich Himmler had convinced the Fuehrer of a plot.

NO TRIALS HELD

"Many people were arrested," the Frick affidavit said. "Something like 100, or even more, were killed. All this was done without resort to legal proceedings. They were just killed on the spot. Many people were killed—I don't know how many, who actually did not have anything to do with the putsch."

Maj. Frank Wallis, assistant U.S. prosecutor, produced numerous minutes of early Hitler cabinet meetings at which five of the current defendants laid the groundwork for the rape of Germany in an ambitious step toward attempting to dominate the world.

The prosecution told with mounting stacks of documents, all meticulously kept by the Nazis themselves, how the followers of Hitler finally gained power in 1933, almost immediately set up concentration camps and outlawed opposing political parties.

As the third day's session opened the four-power court ruled that Jew-baiter Julius Streicher was sane and must stand trial and denied a defence motion which asked postponement of the trial of Martin Bormann, Hitler's missing deputy, who is being tried in absentia.

PRISONERS SMILING

For the first time since the trial opened two days ago, the accused German leaders at one time today appeared in high spirits. Smiling all the time, Reichsmarshal Goering chatted animatedly with defence counsel Rudolf Hess, who has had only a vacant stare for most of the court proceedings, laughed for the first time as he talked with former Foreign Minister von Ribbentrop. Even the stern high command generals, Wilhelm Keitel and Alfred Jodl, were smiling.

Iranians Seek To End Deadlock With Russians

TEHRAN (AP) — Iranian diplomatic and military men were reported today to be seeking through conferences to break an impasse with Russian occupation forces concerning unrest in the Iranian border province of Azerbaijan.

Without amplification, a military spokesman of Iran declared Wednesday night that approximately 6,000 Soviet troops had been moved toward Karaj, 25 miles northwest of Tehran and on the 80-mile highway to Russian winter quarters at Kazvin.

TURKEY KEEPS WATCH

ANKARA (AP) — Turkey kept a tense watch toward the east today, but officials maintained tight-lipped silence on reported uprisings in the Soviet-garrisoned Iranian province of Azerbaijan.

The Istanbul newspaper Vatan said "this is not an interior problem any more."

British Firms May Start Plants in B.C.

Considerable success in his mission to Britain to encourage United Kingdom manufacturers to establish manufacturing and assembly plants in British Columbia is reported by R. S. O'Meara, B.C. trade commissioner, expected back from his tour Dec. 20.

E. G. Rowbottom, deputy minister of trade and industry, said today he had received letters from Mr. O'Meara reporting encouraging results from his discussions with British firms.

Mr. O'Meara was sent to the United Kingdom to study B.C. markets there and to encourage British firms to extend their facilities into B.C.

San Francisco-Bound

Somewhere in the Pacific, bound from Hawaii to San Francisco, is Tonya Jones in her small ketch, Audacious, aboard which she is shown above. She is known as the sea-going poetess. Veteran sailors say she will be doing well if she reaches the Golden Gate by Jan. 1.

Many Offer to House Repatriate's Family

Victoria has upheld its reputation as a kindly host to repatriates from Japanese prison camps. With the publication in Wednesday's Times of the plight of Mrs. L. R. Hocking and her two small children, who are living in the Immigration Building, because they can secure no other home after years in the hands of the Japanese, 22 offers of a home, a number of cash donations, and other offers of toys and clothing for the children have been received.

Mrs. Hocking, still tired and dazed from her harrowing experiences in Shanghai, is bewildered and somewhat distressed at the more so because she is proudly determined not to accept charity.

REPRESENTED SCOTTISH

Her husband, L. Ralph Hocking, who was a well-known athlete in Victoria prior to going to Shanghai, and who represented the Canadian Scottish in a number of athletic meets before the war, is at present in the hospital suffering from T.B. He won three boxing championships in the name of the Canadian Scottish, Ald. W. H. Davies, recalled.

Ald. Davies has offered to open a benefit fund to assist the family until Mr. Hocking's four years' back pay as a member of the police force at the International Settlement in Shanghai comes through.

Already several anonymous donations have been brought into the Times, plus an offer from another citizen who is willing to pay one month's rent for the family in an apartment.

Mrs. Hocking and the two children are being moved out of the Immigration Building this afternoon into an apartment for two weeks, where anonymous donors have paid two weeks' rent and provided sufficient money to pay for the two weeks' groceries. In the course of this two weeks she hopes to be able to sort out the many generous offers made to help her until she can obtain employment or get her husband's back pay through.

SEEKING EMPLOYMENT

Mrs. Hocking insists that she will repay everything given her, regarding all donations merely as a loan. As soon as she is settled in a home she is very anxious to secure employment, and states she is qualified to act as a cashier, or to sell in a store, having three and a half years' cashier experience. She has no stenographic training, so would be unable to take an office position.

As soon as the Times appeared the telephone at the Immigration Building started ringing, she said, and in the course of the evening she received 14 offers of a home.

In addition, three people came to the Times office to offer their homes, and the Emergency Shelter office received four telephone calls offering homes. The Emergency Shelter office has agreed to accept home offers and help Mrs. Hocking choose the one best suited to her needs.

Because she will have to obtain employment she feels she cannot take a home outside the city, although several have been offered from Sidney, Colwood, from a veteran at Langford, and others several miles out of the city.

Both the Florence Nightingale Chapter of the I.O.D.E. and the Women's Auxiliary of the Canadian Scottish have expressed a desire to help the family in any way they can.

One little eight-year-old girl was so distressed when she read the story she insisted last night on taking up a beautiful doll to the Immigration Building for three-year-old Pauline, as well as crayons and coloring books.

Another man came into the Times office and has offered to pay a month's rent for the family in an apartment or house. Others who have offered to share their homes are a city fireman and an elderly lady who lives with her grand-daughter.

Damaskinos To Quit As Regent

ATHENS (AP) — Archbishop Damaskinos announced today he definitely would resign as Regent of Greece.

He made the announcement to a press conference shortly after the 85-year-old Liberal leader, Themistokles Sophoulis, had been sworn in as Premier, heading a new cabinet. Archbishop Damaskinos said he would make a statement to the Greek people later in the day.

Sophoulis said in a press conference that Archbishop Damaskinos was forced by the British authorities to hold up his resignation Wednesday night and swear in the new government.

He said British envoy Hector MacNeil had called on Archbishop Damaskinos and told him that unless he helped set up the new government, he (MacNeil) would leave at once for London as a mark of protest.

Earlier it had been announced that Regent Damaskinos had withdrawn his resignation so he could swear in the new government.

Detective Tells How Boy Cried Relating Story

Detective Angus Munro revealed a statement from Charles Kinney in Assize Court here today that told how Phyllis Stroud came to her death, during Kinney's trial on a charge of murdering the girl.

In answer to a question from Crown Prosecutor Robert Harvey, K.C., Detective Munro said that with Detective Louis Callon he had brought the accused to the police station on the morning of Sept. 3.

He said he had asked Kinney if he had killed the girl and if it had been an accident.

"She came home about 11.25," Kinney had told him, he said. "We had an argument and I hit her. I then dragged her to the bed and suffocated her. I burned her dress and when everyone had gone to bed I buried her."

Detective Munro also told the court that the accused had told him he had later taken clothing belonging to the girl to Beacon Hill Park.

The detective added that as Kinney made his statement he had noticed "tears coming down his cheeks."

He said they had left the station immediately afterwards to go to Beacon Hill Park. There he said Kinney had led himself and Detective Callon to a spot 150 yards from the flagpole.

Mr. Harvey held up two wallets, a lipstick, a yellow pencil with the name Phyl scratched on it and Detective Munro identified them as the ones he had picked up in Beacon Hill Park the morning of Sept. 3.

Detective Says Defendant Warned

The detective told the court that before leaving the park with Kinney he had warned him that he would be charged with murder. He had also told him that anything he said would be taken down and used against him.

"I'm glad I've got that off my mind," Kinney had told him, he said. "I'm sorry to have caused you fellows so much trouble."

As Detective Munro took the stand he told the court that with Detective Callon he had gone to the basement of the Stroud home on Aug. 27 and had noticed blowflies near the sawdust bin. He had pushed aside the sawdust and uncovered the legs of a body.

Detective Munro said he had recovered the legs and kept watch on the home with Detective Callon during the night of Aug. 27. Next day in company with the girl's father and uncle the two detectives had uncovered the remains.

Mr. Harvey held up pictures of the sawdust bin and the body and Detective Munro identified them.

He said he had questioned Kinney at noon on Aug. 28 and the accused had told him he had learned that the body had been found and had come home.

Statement Admissible, Judge Rules

Earlier Mr. Justice J. M. Coady had ruled that the statement allegedly made by Kinney would be admitted in evidence, following a day and a half of testimony and argument in a trial within a trial.

The judge said questioning of suspects could be gravely abused, and if he had found it so in this case he would have condemned it most strongly.

Believes Statement Was Made Voluntarily

"I have no doubt that the statement made by the accused person was a voluntary statement and may be admitted in evidence," he said.

Following Mr. Justice Coady's ruling, the jury returned to court. Kinney leaned forward in the dock to speak to Defence Counsel W. H. Davey, K.C., his face slightly flushed.

When the jury had been readmitted to the court, Detective Louis Callon entered the witness stand and testified that on the morning of Sept. 3, he and Detective Munro had taken Kinney to the police station.

He had hung up his hat and coat, he said, and then entered Insp. J. Rogers' office, where the accused was sitting in a chair. Detective Munro turned around, he testified, and told him, "It's all right, he's told me, he did it."

Detective Callon said Kinney had gone with him and Detective Munro to Beacon Hill Park after agreeing to show them where the missing clothes were.

Kinney, he said, had picked up a purse in the bushes and handed it to Detective Munro. Detective Callon testified he had picked up a pencil inscribed with the word "Phyl."

The accused then looked around again and from another part of the bushes brought out a paper parcel which he handed to me," Detective Callon said.

He told the court that the parcel contained a tweed jacket and pair of canvas sandals.

He identified the jacket and sandals as those earlier entered in evidence, and also a white belt which he said he found in a pocket of the jacket.

Detective Callon said Kinney had been charged and warned by Detective Munro on leaving the bushes in the park.

At this point Mr. Justice J. M. Coady again excluded the jury from the court while Detective Callon and Detective Munro were examined concerning events following the warning to the accused.

This second trial within a trial lasted only 10 minutes. With the jury back in court, Detective Callon identified trousers and shoes he had taken from Kinney on his return to the police station.

Detective Callon said in reply to cross-examination that Kinney had been questioned for about an hour on Aug. 28, and again on Aug. 30 came to the police station about 8 p.m., was questioned, and was taken home before midnight.

Under cross-examination by Mr. Davey, Detective Callon said that no warning had been given the accused during the time on Sept. 3 they took him from Roseberry Avenue to the station and then to the park.

Replying to question from Mr. Davey, he said he had gone with Kinney and Detective Munro into the detectives' room and then to the inspector's office. He had left the latter for a moment to hang up his coat and on his return asked the accused why he "did it." Kinney had not replied.

Detective Callon denied having a fingerprint card in his hand when he asked the question. He said that instead he had left the room again returning to pick up the fingerprint card from a desk.

He admitted saying to Munro in the accused's presence, "I guess these are what did it."

He said he had taken Kinney's fingerprints on Sept. 1.

Mr. Davey read statements from the transcript of the preliminary hearing which indicated Callon had had the fingerprint card in his hand when he asked the accused if he had done it.

Detective Callon denied having the card in his hand and said the version of what had transpired in the inspector's office given by him today was the correct one.

Mr. Davey held up a pillow and pillowcase with lipstick marks on it. He asked Detective Callon if he had had any knowledge of the exhibits on the morning of Sept. 3.

The detective replied that he knew some bedding had been brought to the police station. He denied having examined it.

B.C. Job Vacancies Hit New Low
VANCOUVER (CP)—William Horrobin, regional employment officer of National Selective Service, Wednesday reported a new low in job vacancies throughout British Columbia for the week ended Nov. 16. Representing a sharp decline from figures released last week, male vacancies totaled 5,857, while 2,287 women vacancies existed throughout the province. Mr. Horrobin said the only increasing demand for workers comes from mining, where a total of 800 hard rock and coal miners are needed. Logging requirements have fallen off and only 500 men are needed.

MacArthur Ready to Accept From Canada Japs Who Asked to Go

OTTAWA (CP)—Gen. MacArthur, as Allied Supreme Commander in Japan, has informed the Canadian government he was prepared to receive, just as soon as shipping arrangements could be made, the thousands of Japanese who are to be deported from Canada, Labor Minister Mitchell told the Commons Wednesday night.

In presenting his Labor Department estimates, the minister said 10,347 persons of Japanese origin had indicated in a recent survey their desire to return to Japan. However, since the signing of the Japanese surrender many had asked that their request be canceled and the government proposed to review these requests.

Of those asking to be sent to their homeland, 6,844 actually signed the requests, the minister said, and the remainder were dependent children under 16 years of age. Those signing included 2,923 Japanese nationals, 1,461 naturalized Canadians and 2,460 Canadian-born Japanese.

Of the total involved, more than 70 per cent resided in the interior housing settlements in British Columbia.

During the war years, the minister said, the Japanese division of the Labor Department has been supervising approximately 24,000 Japanese across Canada, 61 per cent of whom were living in British Columbia, 21 per cent on the prairies and 18 per cent in eastern Canada.

9,000 NOW EMPLOYED

Use of adult Japanese in various forms of labor, on fruit and sugar beet farms and in lumber camps, had been carried out and at present there were some 9,000 Japanese employed in useful occupations in Canada.

The minister reviewed a statement last year by the Prime Minister in which Mr. King laid down a three-point policy in connection with the Japanese in Canada: First that they must never again be allowed to congregate in British Columbia; secondly that those who had shown disloyalty to Canada should be sent back to Japan, and thirdly that those who had been guilty of no disloyal act should be treated "fairly and justly."

Between the completion of the recent survey and the surrender of Japan, Mr. Mitchell said, only a very insignificant number had applied to revoke their requests.

U.S. Army Head Dies in Texas

LT-GEN. A. M. PATCH

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—Lt. Gen. Alexander M. Patch died in military hospital here Wednesday night.

The commander of 4th Army headquarters, veteran of the First Great War and commander of the U.S. 7th Army in Europe during the Second Great War, died of pneumonia.

His death at the age of 55 came after an illness of more than a week. He was admitted to the hospital Nov. 14. At his bedside were his wife, his daughter, Julia, and his daughter-in-law, Mrs. Alexander M. Patch III.

The general handled the mopping-up of Japanese troops on Guadalcanal, moving in with army troops late in 1942 to relieve marines. Previously he had commanded U.S. troops in New Caledonia.

Early in 1944 he was made commander of the U.S. 7th Army in Europe. In midsummer he led that army when it carried out invasion operations on the southern French coast. A few days after the landings he was given the temporary rank of lieutenant-general.

Gen. Patch had what was known among fellow army officers as "a temper like the devil before dawn," and the slightly-built six-footer proved in two wars that he was "all wildcat." Despite his temper, however, "Sandy" Patch had a kindly way and guiding hand for young recruits, his friends said, and his soldiers swore by their "old man."

In the First World War, Patch participated in the Alsne-Marne, St. Mihiel and Meuse-Argonne offensives.

2 Men Charged In 1928 Killing

SASKATOON (CP)—A 17-year-old mystery was revived when Robert Joseph Gauthier, 37, of Terrace, B.C., was charged Wednesday with the murder of Mike Pilawski of Saskatoon Oct. 9, 1928. The two men were remanded until Nov. 25.

Royal Canadian Mounted Police said the break in the case came about the middle of October when Gauthier gave himself up at Terrace. He said he had been with another man who had committed a murder just outside of Saskatoon in 1928, and could no longer stand the "killing preying on his mind."

Goullet was arrested in Vancouver last Friday, and along with Gauthier, has been returned to Saskatoon.

The body of Pilawski, who used the name Mike Harrison, was found beside the C.N.R. tracks about a mile northeast of the city on the morning of Oct. 9, 1928. The head was lying on a bundle of bloodstained newspapers, and examination showed three wounds on the base of the skull. There was a pool of blood where the body lay, another pool about nine feet away, and a trail of blood on the other side of the track.

Pilawski had been running a threshing machine for a farmer, William Martin, near Madison until a few days before he was killed. On a Thursday he met two men in Madison and the following morning he told Martin he wished to go with the men on the morning freight. Martin paid Pilawski $195. At the inquest after Pilawski's death, W. Basaraba, who said he knew him, testified that Pilawski had shown him $400 on the Sunday before his death. When the body was found there was only 15 cents in the pockets.

Martin told police that one of the men was French and he believed the other was a Swede. An inquest held Oct. 17 brought the verdict that "Pilawski met his death by blows from a blunt instrument by persons unknown." The possibility that he had been hit by a train was discounted by Coroner J. P. ## THE BUILD-UP

When Pacific Ocean salmon are seized with the spawning instinct, no power short of death can prevent them from reaching the spawning grounds. Sometimes they travel 2,000 miles against the full force of a swift-descending river to reach the sandy gravel beds above.

But instinct has prepared them. Feeding voraciously in the ocean, they have stored up vast energy reserves for the journey ahead. At the peak of physical perfection, the salmon enters fresh water a superbly powerful fish.

This is the secret of the inimitable flavor and high food value of British Columbia canned salmon. Caught before they ascend the rivers, they are rich in food elements of the highest nutritional importance, including rare Vitamin D, and the minerals iodine, phosphorus and calcium.

CIVILIZATION'S LAST CHANCE

WHEN MR. ATTLEE TOLD THE BRITISH House of Commons today that "if civilization is to survive, there must be no repetition of the First and Second World Wars," he was merely repeating what has been said by dozens of public men on dozens of occasions in the last year or so. But the urgency of this old warning took on an entirely new and frightening significance as soon as mankind discovered that a comparatively small bomb had literally blasted a large city from the face of the earth.

Five years ago the Germans coined the verb to Coventry; in one night's concentrated aerial attack, using hundreds of planes by successive waves, they had flattened the heart of the historic Midland "city of spires." This pattern of "saturation" bombing was destined for development on the grand scale; the R.A.F. and the R.C.A.F. eventually made the Luftwaffe's early application of it look almost like child's play. But all this is now out of date; one plane and one bomb last August did more damage than hundreds of those attacks which were necessary to cripple the Nazi war machine.

An intimate knowledge of these circumstances served as the background for Mr. Attlee's new warning to all the countries of the world as he began a debate on foreign affairs in the House of Commons this afternoon. One passage of the Prime Minister's exhortation should be especially noted: If the world again lapsed into war on a large scale, "atomic warfare will result in the devastation of towns and the deaths of millions. . . In my view, it is impossible to isolate the problem of the atomic bomb from that of the use of other weapons," since this "is the latest word in destructiveness, but it may be the last."

The potency of these grim words should be understood by all those who prize above the isolation of the "secret" of atomic power and regard it solely as a bargaining agency for the promotion of good conduct. Certainly it could be a factor in this regard. But the idea of its use for this specific purpose would seem to overlook the inexorable processes of the scientific mind—the mind which ignores, in its persistent researches, such mundane considerations as national sovereignty and political manoeuvre.

Experiment is the whetstone which sharpens the laboratory appetite. In other words, until the peoples of the world instruct their governments to limit the use of the products of science to those intended for human betterment, civilization will continue to live under the threat to which Mr. Attlee has again so pointedly alluded. The will to peace must be universal.

CAST FOR THE RIGHT ROLE

BRITISH COLUMBIA'S NEW MINISTER of Agriculture, Hon. Frank Putnam, is well equipped to discharge the duties to which he was assigned as a member of the Hart-Maitland Coalition cabinet yesterday. He is a practical farmer who has made an outstanding success of his own business; and, as a member of the Legislature for the important constituency of Nelson-Creston since 1933, he is thoroughly familiar with parliamentary procedure. He may possess none of the rhetorical dynamics of that much-abused individual loosely called the "professional politician." Rather he has confined his contributions to the debates of the House to the realities of the primary industry whose problems and compensations have been his particular study. That his constituents appreciate his acceptance of this as his guiding principle is reflected by the fact that since he first entered the Legislature in 1933 he has won their approval at the polls on three successive occasions.

It is neither our intention nor is it within our province to suggest to a minister of Mr. Putnam's practical turn of mind what it is necessary to do to revitalize the provincial Department of Agriculture in the light of the demands of the times. As an operative farmer, he may be depended upon to examine his organization with meticulous regard for such progressive measures as may seem, even to the layman, to be requiring expert attention. Because he speaks the farmer's language, of course, Mr. Putnam will desire to be on the friendliest terms with the whole of the agricultural community—to listen sympathetically to their tales of woe and also to give an attentive ear to such proposals as they may offer to him from time to time in the interests of their calling.

At any rate, the new Minister of Agriculture will be able to bring to his task a wealth of experience, the vigor of the practical man who is more concerned with conditions than theories, and an open mind. For, in view of the fact that his role will be that of presiding officer of a department of the public service which can do much for one of British Columbia's most important basic industries, he will necessarily want to assure himself, first of all, that there are no square pegs in round holes as far as his executive force is concerned. These are matters, however, which may be left to Mr. Putnam's good judgment. And it can be taken for granted that his appointment will be warmly applauded by the farmers of the province.

SOURCE OF PRIDE

TO THOSE WHO RECOGNIZE THE development of a good symphonic orchestra as an integral part of broad civic cultural expansion, the success of the Victoria orchestra, acclaimed following its presentation to a capacity audience this week, will be a matter of deep satisfaction. It has been no simple task to combine the growing number of musicians into a finely-integrated whole capable of giving adequate expression to their increasingly-appreciated form of art. Yet that achievement has been attained in a manner which is drawing praise from all music lovers of the city.

No one, of course, is naive enough to imagine that the present standard achieved by the orchestra is simply good luck or the result of wishing. It has been gained by continuous and conscientious work, able leadership, untiring efforts on the part of its executive and—probably most important of all—the genuine desire of the members of the orchestra itself to express themselves in a form enjoyable and creditable to the community. The degree of success the musicians have gained in that objective is enthusiastically attested by those who heard the orchestra in its most recent concert—an event, incidentally, made all the more pleasing by the contribution of Victoria's own Gertrude Huntly.

It should be obvious, however, that the maintenance of the Victoria Symphony Orchestra demands wide support from the community. With the exception of a few donations, it is financed by membership fees only. As the orchestra flows into a more impressive contributor to Victoria's cultural life, it invites a corresponding measure of material appreciation.

NEW LAURELS

IN ALL PARTS OF THE UNITED NATIONS where appreciation is shown for a magnificent leadership, there will be applause for the promotion indicated in Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's nomination as successor to Gen. George C. Marshall as United States Army Chief of Staff. Not only for the superb manner in which he conducted the campaign on Europe's western front, but for his postwar efforts to maintain the unity which existed during battle, General "Ike" won unstinted admiration.

Gen. Eisenhower again becomes the sole property of the United States, even though the position is the highest open to anyone in his particular field. During the drive to victory he had not only been the leader of combined forces but an internationalist of the highest order, a supreme diplomat with a genius for co-ordination. So the free world, which honored him as one of the great men emerging in the war, tempers the satisfaction it feels today over his new laurels with some feeling of loss through his partial withdrawal from the international scene.

BACK TO THE LAND

ONE HUNDRED YEARS AGO THE CORN Laws were abolished in England and the way to Free Trade was blazed into world markets. Today, in order to encourage production of agricultural products, the Labor government is guaranteeing prices for certain definite periods ahead of planting the crops. As in Canada, the policy of a guaranteed price for an unseasoned crop is as far as price, if not quantity, is concerned. But in guaranteeing the market the Labor government proposes also to retain powers to exercise supervision over farming to ensure that the land is properly used. Under such a measure it will be able to compel every farmer to grow such crops as the supervisor orders. Controls thus exercised during the war are, therefore, continued during peace; uncertainties of the market are removed as well as independence of judgment—although the seasons remain to plague both the government and the farmer.

There is little doubt regarding the passage of the new bill for agriculture—considerably less doubt than there was regarding the elimination of the corn laws 100 years ago. The result should be that Britain will grow more food for her own consumption and thus decrease her imports. The government evidently recognizes the possibilities that production, even from the land, is dependent on skill and is taking powers not only to compel farmers to comply with its programs of production but also to expel farmers who prove recalcitrant and want to carry on according to their own judgment. It is an experiment, of course, which will be conducted in the light of progressive experience.

ENTERPRISE

IN THE CRISP AND SOMETIMES RAW days of early winter, it is cheering to read items which draw attention to the bright, warm evenings that are still several months off. Particularly encouraging are reports of the progress being made by the Victoria Baseball and Athletic Club Ltd. which will take citizens out to the ball game in the Western International League next summer. But the prospect is not pleasing solely because of its ability to inspire hot-weather reverie, nor because it promises a superior class of play with the return of professional performers. It owes much of its merit to the fact that the new club represents community enterprise here. Approximately 120 Victoria businessmen have contributed toward acquisition of the club and the franchise to play in the specific league. That demonstration of initiative should undoubtedly draw public support when the turnstiles start clicking—as well as co-operation in arrangements now being completed for the season to come.

Another reconversion note: Ex-war commentators may find it difficult to sound excited about a mere football game.

Walter Lippmann

THE ATOMIC DECLARATION HAD THE DECLARATION on atomic energy been made in August instead of in November, it would have been greeted as an inspired act of statesmanship. But in these three months of delay, the international atmosphere has, as the New York Herald Tribune points out, been so poisoned that we must now use these proposals to begin repairing the mischief that, made sooner, they would have done so much to prevent.

There is nothing in the declaration that could not have been said in August, proposed at Potsdam, announced to the world after the surrender of Japan. The British and the American governments knew in July, as a result of the experiment in New Mexico, that the bomb had been successfully manufactured. Nothing is now known about the international problem that was not known then to the high officials of both governments, and their failure to prepare a plan can perhaps be explained but it is not easily excused. The only explanation is that the State Department and the Foreign Office did not foresee the grave political importance of the atomic bomb.

WHILE THERE is no use crying over spilt milk, it is important that this failure be admitted now. The confession should do something to reduce the suspicions, which are by no means confined to the Soviet Union, that Great Britain and the United States have not been acting as trustees of this terrible weapon but have been disposed to regard it as a military asset to be used in weighing the balance of power decisively in their own favor. These suspicions, which unfortunately are not entirely groundless, it will now take a great deal of effort inside both governments and among the other nations to dispel.

If the declaration can now be treated on its merits, it contains everything that any one could ask or desire as the beginning of an international solution. All depends on whether it is followed quickly by constructive proposals designed by men of vision and knowledge.

IT IS PLAIN that a great opportunity has been opened up by the declaration that we intend to make available to all nations "the basic scientific information essential to the development of atomic energy for peaceful purposes." This can and should be used to create, under the auspices of the United Nations Organization, some kind of congress or institute to which all men of science who deal with atomic energy would belong. Through it they would exchange information, to it they could come for guidance and help in their research, in it they would become personally acquainted.

This is the best possible safeguard that can now be established against the sinister and secret use of atomic energy for sabotage and war. The close association of men of science is the highest and most effective form of "inspection."

THE DECLARATION looks beyond this to what would be an effect international legislation to regulate the production and use of atomic energy in peace and war. It will be the business of the commission to propose such legislation—no doubt in the form of conventions and treaties—to the United Nations Organization. It is here, of course, that there will be the greatest skepticism.

However, there is a way, I believe, by which the commission can deal with its task which opens up immense possibilities for good. That is to invoke the principle that rules and regulations agreed to by the governments shall become binding upon individuals. Thus a violation of the agreements would become, like piracy, a crime for which the individual could be tried and punished.

THIS IS NOT an unprecedented proposal. In Article III of the Washington Treaty of 1922 dealing with submarine warfare and poison gas, it is set down that "any person in the service of any power who shall violate any of those rules, whether or not such person is under orders of a governmental superior, shall be deemed to have violated the laws of war and shall be liable to trial and punishment as if for an act of piracy and may be brought to trial before the civil or military authorities of any power within the jurisdiction of which he may be found."

Here, as every student of our own "Federalist" papers knows, is the principle by which the reign of a wider law can be extended over the smaller law of separate sovereign states. It is by making the individual, not his national government accountable under international law that we shall make a real advance in the authority of international law.

HERE TOO, I SUBMIT, is the essential truth in the growing conviction that in the atomic age, an association of governments is not enough to keep the peace and that there must be a "world government." Plans for world government which call for a world legislature and a world executive take hold of the problem at the hardest and least hopeful and probably also the least desirable end.

The right end at which to begin is, I believe, to establish the principle that there are crimes for which an individual anywhere can be tried and punished under international law, crimes for which his own government cannot give him immunity, crimes which no government can order him to commit without the members of that government becoming themselves international criminals.

That will not give us a world government. But it will give us the foundations, which can be enlarged, of a true world community of individuals, over and above any leagues or alliances of sovereign states.

Letters To The Editor

THEY ARE MEN NOW

Many of our ex-servicemen who went overseas at Canada's call, and many who did not return, were schoolboys who had been on relief from the law. They left school to the time they joined up and volunteered for overseas.

That was not mere coincidence, nor did it show that they had not tried to get work, but a lesson should be learned from this which will surely see that unemployment relief work does not show itself in Canada again.

Now the time has come for rehabilitation to start showing its effectiveness and value, in fact as well as in theory, and Canada, one of the richest undeveloped continents in the world, is waiting to be developed by those same boys who fought for it. They are here waiting to prove themselves efficient in peace and industry as well as in war if Canada will only give them a fair chance to do so.

Will our governments measure up to the task assigned to them, or will they throw the responsibility on to money power, personal and individual initiative, knowing full well there will not be work for all, unless the governments create new useful developments of the country, and finance it till it has established itself on a profitable basis.

There can be no excuse what-

Fight Asthma Mucus Easy Way

Mr. G. C. Beasley, Truro, N. S., was asthmatic, would cough and choke for hours every night, couldn't sleep. Tried many medicines but was not helped. Mucos quickly stopped his attacks and he now feels better than for years. To prove that Mucos may do the same for you, we make this liberal trial offer: Get Mucos from your druggist today! Unless it loosens and removes that strangling mucus, brings free breathing, restful sleep and frees you from the suffering of Asthma attacks, return the empty package and get all your money back. You have everything to gain and nothing to lose. So don't suffer another day without asking your druggist for Mucos.

GOOD CO-OPERATION

With the close of the poppy campaign the Remembrance Day Committee of Victoria thankfully acknowledges the co-operation of all the people of the district in connection with the purchase of poppies and wreaths at the time of the Armistice Day Commemoration.

Of the total receipts, $1,555.90 is paid by the Dominion command of the Canadian Legion, B.E.S.L., to the Victoria Red Cross Workshop for the manufacture of poppies and wreaths by disabled veterans, and the balance ance, less costs for distribution, goes into a special trust fund disbursed by the Remembrance Day Committee for the benefits of needy veterans.

This same plan is carried out by the many branches of the Canadian Legion throughout British Columbia. Under contract with the Dominion command of the Legion, the Victoria Red Cross Workshop makes all the wreaths and poppies for these branches. For 1945 this contract with the Red Cross Workshop will amount to over $13,000, and is the main support of that deserving institution which has continuously operated since early in 1921.

MISS HOCKIN... With Eskimo Doll

Matron of St. Luke's Anglican Hospital in Pangnirtung, Baffin Land, Miss Prudence Hockin is spending several months in Victoria on furlough, after five years in the Arctic Circle.

Pangnirtung, a Hudson's Bay trading post, is visited once a year by a boat which makes a six-week trip from Churchill, Man. The white population of the little village includes two nurses, a hospital housekeeper, and three other white women, wives of officials.

The 22-bed hospital was organized in 1931 by Miss Hockin, who has spent 10 years at her post. Frozen feet are most common ailments among the Eskimo patients, with appendicitis, an unknown evil, owing to their diet.

Miss Hockin described the Eskimos as a cheerful, friendly people, whose language is very difficult to learn.

Most of the food used in the Arctic village is dehydrated, with a few fresh vegetables grown in greenhouses.

Dog sleds are used for traveling, and skiing is the favorite recreation of the nurses. Reading and listening to the radio occupies the remainder of their leisure time.

Whirlwind of Events At Pirates Carnival

Pirate costumes, cutlasses, treasure chests and skulls and crossbones created the atmosphere for a Pirate Carnival at the Oak Bay High School, Wednesday afternoon and evening.

Given under the auspices of the Junior Red Cross the affair was a real school effort. Every pupil had some part to play. A huge crowd of parents and friends, added to the success of the affair. Proceeds will be used for the British War Nurseries fund.

The carnival was opened at 3 by Capt. Jack Hudson, a former pupil of the school, recently returned from service with the air force. He was introduced by the president of the Junior Red Cross, Miss Elizabeth Foote.

An original skit written by R. Terry and T. Cox, was presented by the Drama Group during the afternoon and evening. The scene—a pirate ship—was the work of R. Lea and G. Nickells. During each performance sea shanties were given by a boys' chorus.

There was an auction under the convenship of D. Pratt, where canaries in cages, a kitten, shortening, eggs, doll buggies, doll beds and many other articles were "knocked down" to the highest bidder. Several Christmas cakes went "under the hammer" the ingredients for making having been provided by the pupils.

Itney dancing was under the convenship of M. Martindale; corsages were made and sold under E. Usher; checking was taken care of by J. Mill and maintenance by D. Clyde.

SUPPER SERVED

Between 5 and 7 box suppers were sold in the girls' lunchroom and coffee between 8 and 9. Lemonade and apples, chocolate and cookies were on sale in the afternoon. Refreshments were in charge of E. Tiers.

A children's room upstairs in the library was convened by Sheila Beckwith. Bags of bu'd blocks made by manual training class, children's books and games were for sale. There were also special games for the youngsters, and a movie, with A. Whittingham in the projection room.

Three guessing contests were arranged in the main hall, in charge of K. Bury, M. McEwen and E. Estlin. Every corridor had a game of skill or chance—all carrying out in some way the pirate theme. Convener were: Colin Blyth, Joan Hutchison, B. Beaton, Bob Love, Dickie Moore, Kathryn Hutchison, Wally Wells, Leslie Rimmer, Brian Roberts, Robert Hutchison, Ross Clayton and Jim Stephenson. A treasure hunt was arranged, and handled by Irvine Young.

A movie show for adults was under the management of R. Rix and Barry Jones. Decorations throughout the building were in the hands of Gloria Davies and Marilyn Olson.

The carnival was staff-sponsored, and will take the place of the usual country fair.

SELECTING A WIFE

A young man who is contemplating matrimony asks: "Which makes the better wife, the domestic girl, or the business girl?"

Well, in these days, when practically every girl goes from the schoolroom into a store or office, there isn't much profit in discussing the qualifications for wifehood of the domestic girl, because the species is almost as extinct as the Dodo. She has become a museum specimen, instead of parlor furniture. So the question narrows down to considering whether a business experience fits or unfits a girl for marriage.

Curiously enough, it does both for how a girl reacts to marriage depends upon her temperament. There are girls who are born with a yearning for pots and pans and cooking stoves and babies, and to whom everything connected with the commercial world is anathema. They are never happy until they get into their own kitchens, and they are more kick out of beating up an angel food cake than they would out of selling $1,000,000 bill of goods.

MARRIED TO JOBS

But there are other girls who love the rustic and rush and sense of accomplishment of business, who are far more at home in an office than they will ever be in a vine-wreathed cottage, and who are more married to their jobs than they ever will be to any man. And these are the girls who develop into "our invaluable Miss Jones," of whom their employers boast, but they never make the Mrs. Jones of whom their husbands brag.

Theoretically a business training should be good wife training. It would seem that a girl who had been drilled into punching the time clock at the store on the dot would run her house on a schedule; that the one who earned her own living would know how much blood and sweat and weariness goes into every dollar, and would handle her money carefully; that the one who had learned how to appease a cranky employer would know how to yes-yes her husband. And perhaps even the Dumbest Dora does learn something from her business experience that improves her technique as a wife.

But on the other side of the ledger stands out the hard fact that the girl who has once held down a good job, and liked it, is bored to tears at running a little two by four apartment. The woman who had been the buyer for a big department store once said to me: "When I go out to buy a couple of pounds of steak and 10 cents' worth of carrots, when I am accustomed to buying by the many thousands of dollars, it is like putting a high-powered Diesel engine to doing a quarter of a horsepower job."

NO BACK TALK

Nor does any woman who has ever known the self-respect and dignity that having her own money gives her ever take kindly to asking her husband for every cent and explaining what she did with the last quarter he gave her. Neither does the ex-business woman make the sort of a wife who takes backtalk from her husband and puts up with any sort of treatment he sees fit to give her. She can put on her hat and walk out on him if he doesn't treat her as politely as he does his secretary.

So there you are, son. If you want a wife who will be a good business partner who will help you make and save your money, who won't make you go out at

Let's Eat!

Savor the flavor when you add — A pinch of celery seed to potato salad; a speck of mace to tomato soup; a dash of ground cloves to creamed onions; a bit of sage to meat loaves; a little nutmeg to squash.

Good!—You are all familiar with the chilled ripe olive as a "must" on hors d'oeuvre trays, but have you ever thought how enhancing the flavor might be if they were served hot? Simply remove from the container and heat in their own liquid.

Grill Cookery—For those who are still struggling with the "make-shift" kitchenettes of crowded living quarters, quick meat steaks are made by browning ground meat in a little fat and then cooking with diced vegetables, tomato juice, canned tomatoes or condensed soup and desired seasonings, until vegetables are tender. This allows for quite a variety.

Olive-Cheese Biscuits—One and half dozen of these snacks will be a welcome addition to your part. Sift, measure, two cups enriched flour. Resift with four teaspoons baking powder, one half teaspoon salt. Cut in ¼ cup butter with pastry blender. Add one half cup grated yellow cheese. Add one and one eighth cups milk and mix lightly with a fork. Drop by tablespoonful into well-greased small cup cake pans. Press a stuffed olive into each. Bake in hot oven 15 minutes.

Eye Appeal—A perky canned peach half is an excellent colorful base for an interesting salad. Stuff the hollow with a cream cheese and raisin filling and watch your family smile.

THE FORD STRIKE

Can Be Settled

NOW!

The major obstacle standing in the way of an immediate end to the prolonged Ford strike, and the return of thousands of Ford employees and other Canadian workers to jobs and wages, is the uncompromising demand of the union for what they term "Union Security."

What Is "Union Security"?

One form of Union Security is the Union Shop. Union Shop means this: No man or woman can get or hold a job in a plant where Union Shop conditions prevail unless he or she is a member of a Union or consents to become a member as a condition of employment.

Ford of Canada recognizes and respects the employee's individual right to belong to a union if he so desires, and the right of union representatives to bargain collectively on behalf of employees. But this company believes no employee should be COMPELLED as a condition of employment, to become or to remain a member of any labor union.

Union leaders claim the Union Shop is necessary to ensure democratic conditions within a plant. We believe the Union Shop is contrary to the ideas of democracy held by the ordinary citizen. The Union Shop is not democracy. It is a DICTATORSHIP BY A LABOR UNION.

The FACTS About the Union Shop

1. The Union Shop is not designed to protect the rights of the employee, but to give a labor union dictatorial power over workers in a plant.
2. The Union Shop compels workers in a plant to join and support the union—and to pay cash tribute from their wages to the union on penalty of losing their jobs. The Union Shop may mean security for union officials—but it does not mean JOB SECURITY for the employee.

3. The Union Shop sets up a dictatorship over the working force in a plant. Individual employees are forced to join and remain members of the union, regardless of how they may disagree with union policies. They could be forced to support these policies on penalty of expulsion from the union, which automatically would mean the loss of their jobs.

4. The Union Shop is not necessary to ensure or protect the security of a union.

Ford of Canada recognizes the right of its employees to belong to the union of their choice. The Company recognizes the right of the appropriate union to bargain collectively on behalf of plant employees, whether union members or not.

The Strike Can Be Ended NOW

We believe that the granting of the union dictatorship is not the way to end the Ford strike.

We believe that the proposal made to the union by the Company on November 16th, is a sound and fair basis for settlement. This proposal, though rejected by the union, is still open for acceptance. It provides that Ford employees be returned to their jobs and wages, while union and company negotiate a new collective bargaining agreement. It proposes that after a reasonable period of time for negotiations, all remaining differences be decided upon by an arbitrator to be appointed by the Minister of Labor for Canada from among the Judges of the Supreme Court of Ontario. It requires that both union and company agree to accept and be bound by the Arbitrator's decisions.

The principle of arbitration is as old as British ideas of fair play and equal justice. It is, basically, the same democratic process as that applied in the Courts of Canada to the settlement of differences between conflicting parties. If agreed to by the union the company's proposal would quickly put an end to the long-drawn out strike. It would restore jobs and wages to thousands of Ford employees and other Canadian workers. It would restore production, now paralyzed throughout Canada's automotive industry, of sorely needed cars and trucks.

The union can, and should, act on this reasonable and equitable proposal to end the Ford strike NOW.

Maitland Would Curb Bookmaking in B.C.

Attorney-General R. L. Maitland, who left for Ottawa Wednesday afternoon, will seek in Dominion capital amendments to the Criminal Code to curb bookmaking.

Failure to check bookmaking, Mr. Maitland feels, would permit betting to get completely out of hand. Horse race betting should be under the pari-mutuel system. Mr. Maitland has been in correspondence with Justice Minister St. Laurent, Senator G. G. McGeer, and others in Ottawa. Previously he had sought action in amendments being submitted to the Parliament, but they were modified in the Commons and killed in the Senate.

The latest proposal would make it an offense for anyone, except publications, to send any message relating to results of racing, betting or scratches until completion of the last race at a track. The suggested amendment would cover telegraph, telephone and express systems.

The proposed amendment would establish any "house, office, room or place" sending or receiving such information prior to the last race as "a common betting house."

Welcome New Members

Miss Mary Duncan and Miss June Howard were welcomed as new members at the last meeting of the Solarium Junior League, Mrs. F. Dunn presiding. Miss Mildred Jones reported the sum of $500 realized from the Chrysanthemum Show. Miss Kitty Malloy, convener, announced plans for the pantomime to be held at the Royal Victoria Theatre, Dec. 15 and 16, well under way. Mrs. H. Damske reported the Snowball Frolic will be held in the Empress Hotel, Dec. 26.

Workshop Gets $1,556

Of total receipts of poppies and wreaths sold for Remembrance Day, $1,555.90 will be paid to the Victoria Red Cross Workshop for the manufacture of poppies by disabled veterans. C. A. Gill, secretary of the Remembrance Day committee, said Tuesday.

The remainder of the receipts less distribution costs will go into a special needs veterans' fund, he said. For 1945 the contract with the Red Cross Workshop will amount to more than $13,000.

H.R.H. Princess Royal Will Attend Scottish Ceremony

Lt. Col. Cyril Wightman, commanding officer of 1st Battalion, the Canadian Scottish Regiment, which has arrived in England on repatriation movement, in an interesting letter to returned veteran Capt. H. S. C. Archibald tells of two colorful ceremonies involving his unit in Holland and an impending ceremony in the U.K. when the Canadian Scottish Regiment, with members of their allied regiment, the Royal Scots.

On Nov. 6 a plaque was unveiled as a memorial of mutual gratitude between the unit and people of Ede, Holland, at a Memorial Park created by the battalion, which spent four months improving and beautifying an area of ground in the city. Commanding officers of the Regina and Winnipeg Rifle Regiments, sister units of the Scottish in the Seventh Infantry Brigade, and the acting brigade commander, Lt. Col. A. Gregory, D.S.O., attended the unveiling. The burgomaster (mayor) of the city replied on behalf of the town. Public attending numbered 300.

British Columbians will be more interested in the second ceremony Nov. 10, the day before the unit left Holland. This involved handing over to the 4th Battalion the Canadian Ensign, presented some time ago to the 1st Battalion by W. A. McAdam, Agent-General for British Columbia with the request it be flown continuously as long as the Canadian Scottish are in Europe. As the fighting Scottish are now leaving Europe the flag had to be turned over to the 4th Battalion which is part of the Canadian army occupational force and will remain in Europe for some time.

PIPE BAND PLAYS

Lt. Col. L. S. Henderson, D.S.O., commanding the occupational unit, was represented at the flag-changing-over ceremony by Lieut. R. Kelly. The flag was lowered from the 1st Battalion's flagstaff in the presence of the whole unit by RSM. Morgan as the pipe band played "Scotland Is My Ain Home," followed by the regimental march "Blue Bonnets Over the Border." Standing in front of the guard-of-honor, Lt. Col. Wightman and Maj. Peter Ramsay, second in command, took the salute. The RSM handed the flag to Lt. Col. Wightman, who handed it on to Lieut. Kelly with instructions to hand the flag to Lt. Col. Henderson to be flown as long as the Canadian Scottish Regiment has troops in Europe.

IMPORTANT CEREMONY

A ceremony of great moment in the history of the regiment is expected to take place in London, Eng., around Nov. 23, The Royal Scots, to which the Canadian Scottish Regiment came the only allied regiment in 1927, is giving a reception and luncheon for the 1st Battalion at Mansion House, London.

Her Royal Highness, the Princess Royal, Colonel-in-Chief of the two allied regiments, will be present and make the presentation between the two regiments.

It has been learned the ceremony will be broadcast over both the BBC and CBC.

This ceremony will symbolize the happy union that has existed between the two regiments from the beginning of their alliance. The ceremony itself is important as it is the first time a Canadian unit has been honored at the historically famous Mansion House.

Pickle-Herring Plant Licenses Approved

Ltd., and the Bidwell Street plant, Vancouver, of the Queen Charlotte Fisheries Ltd.

A car owned by Reg. Buckle, Selkirk Lodge, reported by Saanich police to have been stolen at 10.40 Tuesday night, was found abandoned by city police on Bastion Street, between Langley and Government Streets, Wednesday.

tered and 289-unregistered service votes.

His C.C.F. running mate in the two-member constituency, Arthur J. Turner, who was also elected, received 91 registered and 231-unregistered service votes.

Still unreported are the result of the service vote in half a dozen constituencies for the Oct. 25 provincial general election. These include Atlin, where the service vote will decide whether William Duncan Smith, Coalminer, or Norman Cunningham, C.C.F., will represent the northern riding.

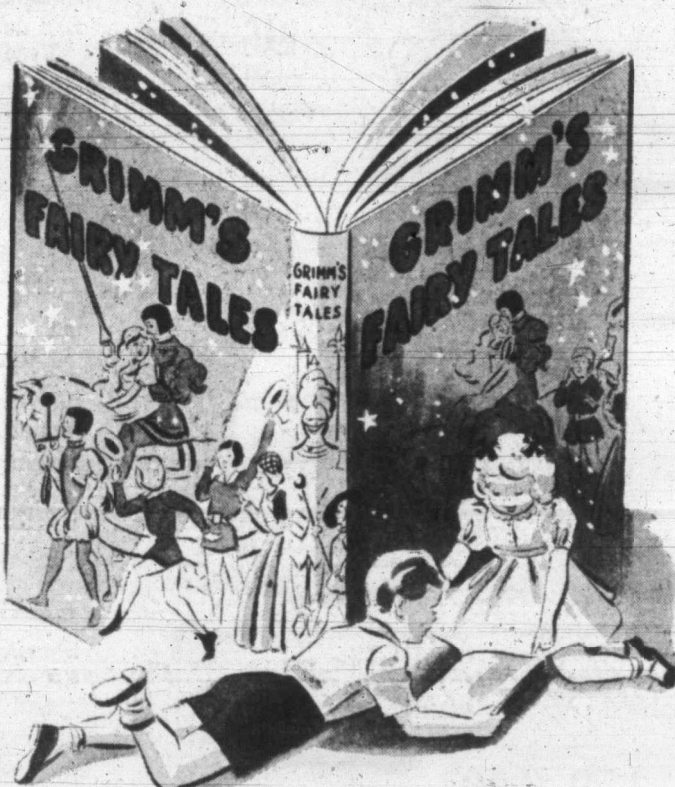

Total service votes for other candidates in the Vancouver East riding were as follows: H. Edwards, Coalition, 192; F. J. Hume, Coalition, 209; H. J. Pritchett, I.P.P., 53; C. Stewart, L.P.P., 39; A. ## Repats Still Write Mayor in Gratitude

Letters are continuing to pour in to Mayor Percy George from repatriates who appreciated the treatment received by them in Victoria on their return from Japanese prison camps.

Lt.-Col. M. D. Robertson, commanding liberated prisoner of war reception camps, has written to pay particular tribute to Ald. W. H. Davey, chairman of the welcome home committee, and the other members of the committee "for all the hard work and assistance they rendered in connection with the general program of hospitality for these men."

Col. Robertson tells how in his contact with the men "I could not fail to notice the remarkable improvement in their health and happiness and in the increase of their confidence which resulted from the kindness and sympathy they received from the people of this city."

C. H. Smith of Norbury, London, England, has written to Mayor George on his arrival home in England to thank the people of Victoria and district "for the great time they gave us all during our stay at the camp... we shall remember not only a marvelous country but a marvelous people as well."

Another letter has come from Sigm. W. W. Wilkinson of Kingston Jamaica, who declares "Our reception and treatment whilst in your fair city was overwhelming, coming as we did from a country where we had almost lost faith in humanity. It completely restored that faith and made us feel our hardships were worthwhile after all."

Kinney Testifies At Trial in Trial

Argument was completed late Wednesday in the proceedings to determine whether certain testimony should be admitted to the trial of Charles Kinney on a charge of murdering Phyllis Stroud. Mr. Justice J. M. Coady reserved judgment.

The public was not barred at any time from hearing the trial within a trial, although the jury was excluded. Spectators who elbowed their way into court, laughing as they scrambled for seats, were warned by Sheriff Duncan MacBride, however, that he would order the court cleared if disturbances continued.

"I think it is disgraceful that people of Victoria should come here to a court of assizes in an unruly manner, especially to a court of assizes where a boy is being tried for his life," the sheriff told the audience.

The spectators remained silent after the sheriff's warning. When Charles Kinney was called to the witness stand a few minutes later by Defence Counsel W. H. Davey, K.C., to testify concerning events before his arrest, the courtroom was entirely hushed.

Completely composed, Kinney gave his evidence in a clear, level voice. His testimony was followed by the argument of defence counsel and prosecution on whether the subject of the trial within the trial should be admitted in evidence.

Plan Centre For Civil Defence Guild

Efforts are being made by T. A. Cresswell, chairman of No. 10 Post, Civil Defence Guild, to secure a lot near Central Park on which to place an army hutment which is to be used for the work of the Civil Defence Guild and as a community hall.

He applied to the City Council Tuesday for the lot, stating that he had a building presented by the federal government for the use of the guild.

It will be used to continue the work of civil defence in peace as well as in war and "to hold and band together the community spirit which has developed through the war period."

The council referred the request to a committee of Mayor Percy George and Ald. J. A. Worthington, both of whom are interested in the project for report and recommendation.

Rowebottom to Call
Tourist Education
Week Next Spring

E. G. Rowebottom, B.C. deputy Minister of Trade and Industry, who was this month elected president of the Canadian Association of Tourist and Publicity Bureaus, said today it was his intention to call a national tourist education week early next spring.

The tourist education week will be marked by campaigns in the press, by radio and through sports shows, exhibitions, competitions and other means. Mr. Rowebottom said, adding that every possible means will be taken to acquaint Canadians with the value of tourist trade and the great potentialities of a well-developed tourist industry.

Because of crowded conditions for accommodation and travel no major tourist appeal will be made next spring, Mr. Rowebottom said.

He emphasized the need of extending "good old-fashioned Canadian courtesy" to visitors. Courteous service will have to be rebuilt as the war-curbed tourist industry is revived.

SEEK MORE MEMBERS
At the same time Mr. Rowebottom said he would launch an appeal to bring into the association representatives of important tourist development associations not already associated with the group.

"This," he said, "will give added strength to the association's activities."
The association, he said, would continue its lobby, directed at the minister of trade and industry in Ottawa, to have a select standing committee of the House of Commons on tourist development set up.

He also said that he would shortly appoint a part-time secretary to handle the affairs of the association during the year. The secretary's headquarters will be in Toronto, he said.

Pearson Premier
In Hart's Absence

The affairs of government of British Columbia were being administered today by three cabinet ministers, two veterans, and one with only a few weeks' experience in his portfolio.

Heading the government in the absence of Premier John Hart, Attorney-General R. T. Maitland, K.C., and Works Minister Herbert Anscomb, who left Wednesday for Ottawa to attend the meeting of the steering committee of the Dominion-Provincial Conference, is Provincial Secretary and Labor Minister George S. Pearson.

Lands and Forests Minister E. T. Kenney is also on hand at the Parliament Buildings. Agriculture Minister Frank Putnam is in his office today. He was sworn in to the cabinet portfolio Wednesday. He had previously sat at the same desk in the last days of the Pattullo administration in 1941.

Mines Minister E. C. Carson, who is also minister of trade and industry, is in Toronto, attending a meeting of an interprovincial committee on mining.

Education Minister George Weir, sworn into the post Monday to succeed H. G. T. Perry, is in Vancouver. He is expected back in Victoria early next week.

The Ottawa delegation is expected to return to Victoria in about two weeks. About Dec. 15 Premier Hart plans to take his first extended rest in four years, when he leaves for Arizona. He will be away about a month.

Mr. Carson is expected to return to Victoria Nov. 26.

During the absence of Mr. Maitland, Mr. Kenney is serving as acting Attorney-General. Mr. Pearson is acting as Works Minister.

B.C. Herring Pack
Setting Records

British Columbia's herring pack to date this year has exceeded production to this time last year by more than 100,000 cases, chief supervisor of fisheries at Vancouver, announced today.

G. J. Alexander, provincial assistant fisheries inspector, reports herring fishing as off to the best start in history.

While production to last weekend had been 551,253 cases, production at this time last year had been 447,063 cases, in 1943 503,605 cases and in 1942, 812,312 cases.

Bulk of the pack will go to the British Ministry of Foods and Unrra.

Experiencing the best season since 1942, salmon fishermen have supplied canneries with fish for production of 1,730,753 cases.

Output of canneries to this date last year had been 1,097,557 cases, while in 1942 at this time 1,786,279 cases had been canned.

Eden Would Revise Charter of United Nations; End Veto Power

LONDON (CP)—Anthony Eden today urged the scrapping of veto powers under the United Nations' charter as a result of atomic energy discoveries.

Speaking in a House of Commons debate on foreign affairs, the former Foreign Secretary urged that all countries state their "present ideas of sovereignty."

Mr. Eden proposed revision of the United Nations' charter after Prime Minister Attlee had warned that if the world should again lapse into war on a large scale, "atomic warfare will result in the devastation of towns, and the deaths of millions."

SETBACK POSSIBLE
Opening the Labor government's first full-scale debate in the House of Commons on foreign affairs, Mr. Attlee said atomic warfare would set civilization back "to an unimaginable extent."

He gave the Commons an account of his recent talks in Washington, with President Truman and Prime Minister King on the future control of the atomic bomb.

"In my view, it is impossible to isolate the problem of the atomic bomb from that of the use of other weapons," he said. "The atom bomb is the latest word in destructiveness, but it may not be the last."

"It has brought home to us, as nothing else has done, that if civilization is to survive, there must be no repetition of the First and Second World Wars."

Referring to his visit to Ottawa following conclusion of the Washington talks, Mr. Attlee said he was "immensely struck by the deep desire of the Canadian people to do all they could to help this country in the difficult circumstances of the present time."

PLEADS FOR PEACE
Throughout his opening remarks, Mr. Attlee pleaded for peace and understanding among nations.

"We desire to promote the use of advances in scientific knowledge for peaceful and human purposes," he said.

Gerber, 1334 Merritt Street, who received a possible fracture of the skull, a broken collar bone and multiple cuts and bruises when knocked off his motorcycle in a collision with an army truck at Government and View Streets shortly before 4 Wednesday afternoon.

A smart gymnastic display was given in the college gymnasium, and the cadets gave a special performance of morning divisions for the benefit of the visitors.

Burglar Steals
Dead Son's Ring

A ring belonging to their son, who recently was reported "presumed dead" after being missing with the R.C.A.F. overseas since July, 1943, was all that was taken by a thief who broke into the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Taverner, 1619 Hollywood Crescent, between 3 and 9.30 Wednesday evening.

Mrs. Taverner said today she had only just received the ring with personal effects belonging to her son, FO. Henry George Taverner, from R.C.A.F. officials overseas. It was valued at approximately $40.

"It's not the money value but the sentimental value of the ring which makes the loss to us so great," Mrs. Taverner said.

City detectives are investigating and reported that entrance was gained to the house by a back bedroom window which had been "jimmied."

Mrs. Taverner and her husband had attended the Lions' carnival at the Crystal Garden and on returning home around 9.30, thought they saw a light in the front bedroom. They believed they disturbed the thief who escaped through the window.

Two purses had been ransacked but nothing else was missing.

'Cycling Minstrel'
Plays 1,800 Numbers

He cannot read a note of music—but the "Cycling Minstrel," G. Harrison Randall, 31, of Fredericton, N.B., who is in Victoria this week, says he can play 1,800 selections from memory on his harmonica. He cycled from his home, Fredericton, N.B., playing before hundreds of servicemen audiences en route. He has covered 11,250 miles thus far, leaving Fredericton in 1942, playing 785 shows for servicemen.

He has already delighted several Victoria and district audiences and will be at Macaulay Point Camp Saturday.

A sign on the front of his bike reads: "I can't fight but I can entertain."

He was rejected three times from the army for poor eyesight.

Coalitionist Wins Atlin Constituency
W. D. Smith, Coalitionist, has been elected to the B.C. Legislature in the Atlin constituency by a majority of six votes, but the poll is still subject to check, it was learned today at the Parliament Buildings.

Norman Cunningham, C.C.F., received 287 votes, while Mr. Smith, 293. This is the total count, including six service ballots received by Mr. Smith and eight received by Mr. Cunningham.

The returning officer for the constituency reported these figures could be regarded as final but were subject to a check on the vote at Telegraph Creek, since the result of the vote in that area had been reported only by word of mouth.

Since the Oct. 25 provincial general election the result of the vote in Atlin constituency had hung in a balance.

The constituency had formerly been represented by W. J. Asselstine, who did not contest the riding because of his interest in mining projects in South America.

The Coalition's victory in Atlin gives the Premier, Hart, Attorney-General Maitland administration 36 of the 48 seats in the B.C. Parliament. Ten seats are held by the C.C.F. and one by Tom Uphill, veteran Labor M.L.A. of Fernie.

One seat is vacant. It is that held by Agriculture Minister K. C. MacDonald of North Okanagan constituency, who died Monday.

COLD GOT YOU IN SNIFFLY, SNEEZY MISERY?

Do This Quick for Relief!

If you are sneezing and sniffling from a cold... all stuffed-up, with your nose and throat raw and sore—combat this distress, as thousands do, by gargling with new Pepsodent Antiseptic.

The reason it's recommended is this: Standard laboratory tests prove new Pepsodent Antiseptic kills millions of germs that go with colds. The very type of germs that many medical authorities say often heighten the misery and prolong the effects of a cold.

Isn't it only common sense then, to gargle with new Pepsodent Antiseptic at first sign of a cold! What better way to combat millions of germs that swarm on mouth and throat surfaces as far back as you can reach... back where illness often strikes first! Sore throat cold this sensible way: Get plenty of rest, avoid exposure, dress warmly, drink plenty of liquids... and gargle frequently with new Pepsodent Antiseptic. See if you don't relieve discomfort almost at once!

MIGRAINE CAUSED BY ARTERY UPSET

By WILLIAM A. O'BRIEN, M.D.

Headaches generally do not originate in pain sensitive structures inside the head, and the genuine (quick headache) is no exception—it develops in an artery under the scalp.

Harold G. Wolff, M.D., has studied the origins of different kinds of headaches at the New York Hospital. He discovered the pain of migraine can be duplicated by stimulating the temporal artery and pulling it rhythmically. These observations were made on co-operative patients during the course of operations for other conditions.

Migraine is a periodic recurrent headache which usually affects one side of the head. Warning symptoms are disturbances in sight, sometimes nausea and vomiting, and there is superficial tenderness in the skin over the aching part.

CONSTRICTION AFFECTS EYES

Warning eye signs are caused by constriction of the temporal artery, while the aching is caused by its distension. If the temporal artery is reduced to normal size by the injection of ergotamine tartrate, the pain stops. Other arteries in this region also may be distended, but the temporal artery is the chief offender. Attacks are usually followed by complete freedom from pain until the next one.

Migraine victims are ambitious, hardworking, tireless persons who tend to be frustrated perfectionists. Most of them know that while their headaches are troublesome they are not serious and do not shorten life expectancy.

Migraine spells are most common on holidays, and some people have them on the same day each week. Migraine is not caused by eye trouble (although the pain seems to start there), constipation or allergy. Allergic headaches do occur, but they differ from migraine attacks in several respects.

Headaches which begin in childhood or at puberty and recur at periodic intervals throughout life usually are migraine. In women, the headaches may disappear after the menopause, although sometimes they start at this time.

If you have migraine, you should change your habits of living, as they are responsible for your attacks. Many drugs will bring you relief, but you can control the number and severity of your spells by developing the philosophy of those who never have headaches.

Say Unrra Goods Sold

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two Senators asserted Wednesday some foreign countries had been selling United Nations' relief supplies for the benefit of their own governments.

The charges were made by Senator Elmer Thomas (Dem., Okla.) and Kenneth McKellar (Dem., Tenn.) after a Senate appropriations subcommittee had completed closed hearings on a bill appropriating an additional $550,000,000 for Unrra.

The B.C. Public Works Department has awarded a contract for additions to the Kamloops Land Registry Office to the Commonwealth Construction Co. Ltd. of Vancouver, which tendered to do the job for $11,848. Commonwealth was the lowest of three bidders. Tenders for the project were opened Monday.

ROMAN GENERALS WORE CRIMSON TOGAS AFTER VICTORIES

While a Roman was in his own home, he usually wore only two garments, not counting his sandals. These were a long shirt and a pair of "trunks." The shirt was made of wool, and sometimes it was held at the waist by a girdle or belt. The trunks have been compared to garments worn by modern athletes, but they varied in length at different times in Roman history.

Going outdoors, a Roman of good family was almost sure to put on a toga. The toga was a loose robe which was draped over the shoulders and, wrapped around the body. Often it reached to the ankles, but there were togas which went down to a point only half way between the ankles and the knees.

Roman father and mother and their three children.

The common color of the toga was a dull white, being simply the color of the wool from which it was made. When a Roman was running for public office, his toga was treated with chalk, and the result was that it became very white. Such a man was called a "candidatus," meaning "clothed in white," and from that Latin term came our modern word "candidate."

Some of the men who held high public office in Rome wore togas with purple borders. When a general came back to Rome after winning important victories, he had the right to wear a crimson toga with gold embroidery on it. Several Roman emperors took up the custom of wearing crimson togas.

Roman women dressed very nearly the same as men, but their outer garments were known as "stolas." A stola was a loose robe which reached to the ground or nearly so.

Even children wore robes somewhat on the order of togas. The robes of children had colored borders. When a youth reached a certain age, he was allowed to wear a toga of the regular kind, and people looked upon him as a man.

Romans wore sandals while they were inside the house, but when they went outdoors they were likely to put on shoes. The shoes were made of leather and were rather like modern shoes except that they were fastened on with straps. Sometimes they were dyed red. Common laborers usually wore wooden shoes, or went barefoot.

B.C. Youths Win

In eight-week competitions at the National Boys' and Girls' Farm Club championships in Toronto this week, B.C. teams took firsts in judging dairy cattle and potatoes; Agriculture Minister Frank Putnam has been advised.

J. E. Manning, secretary for boys' and girls' clubs in B.C., reported B.C. teams also took fourth in poultry judging and sixth in beef judging.

Story of America Theme of York Film

Wherever the history of the American movie is discussed from this day on, the new picture at the York Theatre will, without question, be an important factor.

That picture is "An American Romance," which King Vidor has produced in technicolor for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, with Brian Donlevy and a brilliant newcomer, Ann Richards, in the leading roles, and such highly-capable supporting players as Walter Abel, John Qualen and Horace McNally matching the stars' performances.

"An American Romance" is just that: the story of America, of its golden opportunities, its sweep and grandeur, the rise of its industrial might.

Frances Langford Sings in Cadet Show

Lew Pollack and Harry Harris, are responsible for the musical numbers in R.K.O. Radio's comedy with music, "Girl Rush," starring Wally Brown, Alan Carney, Frances Langford and Vera Vague. Now at the Cadet Theatre.

Miss Langford's numbers are, "Walking Arm-in-Arm With Jim," assisted by Brown, Carney and eight can-can dancers; "Anabella's Bustle," and "Rainbow Valley." Brown and Carney have a hilarious comedy number, entitled, "If Mother Could Only See Us Now."

Wild West Thriller Showing at Rio

Wild Bill Elliott has an unusual brand for his cattle. It is Double-Bar-A, and it was chosen by the western star in honor of his daughter whose name is Barbara. Elliott is currently seen in another of his popular roles as Red Ryder in Republic's "Cheyenne Wildcat," now on the screen at the Rio Theatre. Nine-year-old Bobby Blake is the Little Beaver of the screenplay, while Alice Fleming portrays the Duchess. The film is based on the characters of the famous Red Ryder cartoon strip series.

OAK BAY AND PLAZA THEATRES

George Sessions Perry, author of the deeply moving novel "Hold Autumn In Your Hand" which has been made into a stirring moving picture, entitled "The Southerner," by David Loew and Robert Hakim for United Artists release, knows the Texas about which he writes very well for he was born there, attended two universities there and has spent much of his life there.

"The Southerner," now being shown at the Oak Bay and Plaza Theatres, tells the story of a migratory worker who takes his family to the Texas cotton lands to settle there as a tenant farmer. The vicissitudes encountered by the family as they battle soil and elements for a livelihood and finally win out against nearly insuperable odds, form the backbone of the book and picture.

DOMINION THEATRE

Peggy Ann Garner looks pretty for the first time on the screen as Judy Graves in "Junior Miss," the Broadway stage sensation which 20th Century-Fox filmed and which is currently at the Dominion Theatre.

Naturally a pretty little girl, Peggy Ann's beauty has been hidden in her previous pictures to suit the roles she portrayed.

Szigeti Entrances Great Audience With His Violin

By AUDREY ST. JOHNSON

One of the greatest living violinists, an artist of superlative gifts and attainment, Joseph Szigeti held a capacity audience entranced for more than two hours, Wednesday night, when he appeared in the Hlker series at the Royal Victoria Theatre. An ovation greeted each number, and even after the addition of six encores, his audience seemed unwilling to let him go.

Mr. Szigeti is to be congratulated on his choice of program, which not only complimen the taste of local concertgoers, but was extremely generous, comprising two major works, as well as the famous "La Folia" (Corelli) and the unrivalled Bach "Chaconne."

Pening with the "La Folia," which is actually a set of beautiful variations on a Spanish theme, written by the first great violin virtuoso, the 17th century Corelli, Mr. Szigeti immediately established the polished perfection of his technique and that more rare asset, the ability to create mood.

The most thrilling moments came with the performance of the Mendelssohn Concerto in E minor, which outtrials most of the composer's works for its exquisite lyricism and wealth of musical idea. The passionate fervor of the first movement was given sincerity and emotional depth through the violinist's keen understanding and sensitivity. The lovely, serene melodies of the Andante were sung with such purity of tone, matchless phrasing and bowing that they had an almost other-worldly quality. There was a wonderful contrast in the brilliant, gay, capricious

Rejoins Firm

Maj. R. Love, formerly of the Royal Canadian Artillery, has resumed his position with the investment department of T. H. Burns & Co. Ltd., with which firm he was associated for many years prior to the war.

From the outbreak of hostilities Mr. Love served with the 5th B.C. Coast Regiment in various capacities, later going to the General Staff Pacific Command and H.Q. 7th Canadian Division in Nova Scotia. On proceeding overseas, he was on loan to the British army and for the last 15 months of the war was attached to an Army Headquarters General Staff as a G.S.O. 2.

John Garfield In 'Pride of Marines'

During the filming of Warners' "Pride Of The Marines," coming tomorrow to the Dominion, an announcement appeared in the press that John Garfield and Eleanor Parker, the film's stars, and a company of technicians had been dispatched to Philadelphia to obtain authentic shots.

This brief announcement did not stress the time, trouble and expense to which a studio will go to make a movie look like the real thing.

"Pride Of The Marines" deals with the life and accomplishments of Al Schmid, one of the Marine heroes of this war. Schmid, played by Garfield, hails from Philadelphia, and Warners decided to film the early scenes of his life in that metropolis.

Bogart, Greenstreet Star in 'Conflict'

Films dealing with the absorbing study of human psychology and all its ramifications are becoming more numerous with each advance made in the world of medical science. The latest of these gripping psychological melodramas — and one which promises to be among the most interesting — is Warner Bros' "Conflict," which arrives at the Atlas Theatre tomorrow. With Humphrey Bogart, Alexis Smith and Sydney Greenstreet in the top starring roles, the film is a distinct departure from Hollywood's usual psychological fluff in one important respect. This is in the method of psychology employed — and the end to which it is put.

CAPITOL THEATRE

Paul Whiteman, the maddening master of music, was party to one of Hollywood's most unique arguments during the filming of Warners' "Rhapsody in Blue," currently at the Capitol Theatre.

During production of the picture biography of George Gershwin, in which Whiteman plays himself, the maestro kept insisting that he was no actor. And he kept getting an argument on the point from Irving Rapper, the film's director.

For anybody who wears grease paint even so much as to hint that he's anything less than a superior actor is pure Hollywood heresy. For a director to dispute such an astounding assertion as Whiteman's makes it all the more unbelievable.

School board officials have drawn up a long list of materials which they hope to have made available to the schools from War Assets Corporation, and the final list was sent in late last week. Some of the items on the list the board will expect to purchase, but others are being requested on an indefinite loan basis from the corporation. Included in the long list are such items as office equipment, desks, lockers, typewriters, sanitary equipment, electrical supplies, sheet metal, woodworking tools,

Canadian Flag

Controversy over a Canadian flag prompted a Victoria man, Charles F. Ramsay, former member of the Veterans' Guard and Legion War Services, to submit a design.

Composition of the flag is the red ensign with the Union Jack in the top staff corner. A design of nine maple leaves in autumn colors is arranged around the dominion crest in a circle, symbolizing the nine provinces. The Fleur-de-Lis is an added suggestion, according to Mr. Ramsay, in recognition of the fact that one-third of Canada's population is of French origin.

Honored for Service
As Lighthouse Keeper

In recognition of 38 years' service with the Marine and Transport Department, Capt. Arthur B. Gurney, veteran lighthouse keeper, was recently presented with the Imperial Service Medal at a ceremony in his home on Salt Spring Island.

In the absence of Maj. Gen. G. R. Peakes, V.C., M.P., the presentation was made by Hon. George S. Pearson, Provincial Secretary and Minister of Labor. Mr. Pearson read a letter signed by the registrar of the Imperial Service Order on behalf of the King.

Capt. Gurney, a Boer War and Great War veteran, retired in February as keeper of the light and fog station at Active Pass, where he had served for 24 years.

No Sympathy Strike, Says Bengough

WINNIPEG (CP)—V. B. Anderson, secretary of the Winnipeg Trades and Labor Council, said Wednesday night he had received a letter from Percy R. Bengough, president of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada, advising affiliated membership to "keep out of the trap" regarding the reported move for a sympathetic general strike in support of the Windsor Ford motor workers.

"These experiments have been tried many times before and have always proved disastrous," the letter said.

strike being called by the Congress is a stupid and dangerous suggestion. If a procedure was followed in which all ceased work in all industries because of a dispute in one particular firm, it can be readily seen that no work would ever be done as there is always a hostile employer in some part of Canada."

One Woman's Day...

BY NANCY HODGES

TO BATHE OR NOT TO BATHE?

TALKING to a contractor the other day about the housing "bottleneck," he told me that bathtubs were in short supply—among other things.

So much so that many houses, now in course of construction, were being held up, pending their arrival on the market.

At which I offered the bright suggestion that it might be possible to complete the houses without them, leaving a place for the bathtubs when such became available.

And that those in desperate need of accommodation might not mind, for the time being, reverting to the old tin tub method of bathing.

At which he looked slightly startled, and probably wondered if I were in the habit of dry-cleaning!

RATHER RARE

BUT BATHTUBS are by no means as common as some people would like to think.

I remember once reading in an American trade publication that of the 24,000,000 bathtubs in the world, the United States has 21,600,000. (Incidentally, I wonder who counted them?)

If those figures are true, it doesn't leave many to be divided among all the other millions of people in the world; does it?

And it also lends emphasis to the survey made by Lever Bros. Limited of Canadian homes and needs.

A survey which revealed that, in British Columbia, 8 per cent of city families, 22 per cent of small town families, and 13 per cent of farm families have no proper bathtub.

The same source shows that washbasins are even scarcer, 19 per cent of city people being without one!

ONCE THOUGHT DANGEROUS

IN CASE THAT COMES as much of a shock to you, as it did to me, it is well to hark back a little.

And to recall that it isn't many years since the daily bath was looked upon as a pernicious—nay, dangerous—habit.

I have it on the word of the author of an old "family doctor" book, written in 1869, "Guide Book to Health, Peace and Comfort," that the high-sounding title of the tome written by Dr. Hall and published in Philadelphia.

Like Mrs. Beeton's, this was considered an indispensable item in the homes of that day, and was consulted whenever anyone, from grandmother to the hired man, got an ache or a pain.

DIKE WARNING

IN THE LIGHT of modern hygiene, Dr. Hall's refrains about bathing are decidedly amusing.

that a daily bath, to one in good health, is not only not beneficial, but is injurious, while it deprives a man of a valuable prophylactic.

When a man, however, bathing of some kind is advisable under certain circumstances, but it should not be continued too long; as soon as he is well he ought to stop.

So much for the good doctor's opinion as to cleanliness, being by no means akin to health.

SORT OF SALES "STUNT"

NOR DOES HE THINK it akin to goodness, judging by his dark hints.

A daily bath, shower or otherwise, is a modern invention, designed solely to sell bathtubs.

As to the individual who had the daily cold bath habit, listen to Dr. Hall's opinion of him:

"Have we any written record of any nation, whose inhabitants practiced, as a general thing, daily cold-water bathtings?"

There are inquiries which every reflecting man ought to make, and when they are answered, to conduct himself accordingly."

ADVISE TO LADIES

AFTER THAT EXHORTATION it is not surprising that the author frowns upon bathing for "women and those who are delicate and are easily chilled."

So he suggests that, for cleanliness' sake, they "adopt that method which is described in the following language of a lady to a lady:

"You only want a basin of water, a towel, a rag, and five minutes' time. When you get up in the morning, pin a petticoat very loosely at the waist, draw your arms out of the sleeves of your chemise, and let it drop to your waist."

Take your rag, well wetted, and slap your head and shoulders, rub your arms and chest, and throw handfuls of water around your ears and back of the neck.

Then throw your towel across your back, and "saw it dry." Rub fast until you are quite dry."

WHAT NEXT?

HAVING GOT SO FAR with her ablutions, the lady is then advised to continue as follows:

"Put on your chemise sleeves, draw on a nightgown, to keep from chilling, while you tuck your skirts up under one arm, until you wash and dry one limb."

Drop that side, and do the other likewise, and be sure that the small of the back and sides get their full share of rubbing."

This done, sit down, dip one foot in the basin, rub, and dry it, put on your stockings and shoe, and then wash the other."

Yes, it seems a far cry from Dr. Hall's delicate and easily chilled lady to the modern miss!

Murder, Suicide Verdict On Man, Wife

LONDON (CP)—A coroner's jury today returned a verdict of murder and suicide in the death of Capt. Emmanuel Ward Hart.

The 46-year-old English wife, Daphne Ruth, whose bodies were found last Saturday in a parked military car on Barnes Common.

The jury found Mrs. Hartley was murdered, and Hartley, a Canadian Legion war services supervisor, committed suicide. Their deaths were due to bullet wounds.

In summing up, the coroner said a note left by Hartley indicated an agreement between his wife and him to end their lives. However, the coroner said that even if that were so, "if a man shoots his wife there is only one verdict and that is murder."

The conclusion there was no such agreement between them," he added. "You will probably come to the conclusion that Mrs. Hartley was simply and coldly shot from the back without agreeing to or knowing such a course was being taken."

He said evidence showed Hartley had been in financial difficulties for some time.

A police inspector described finding the bodies with that of Mrs. Hartley lumped in the front seat while that of Hartley was in the rear. Hartley's note was addressed to his wife's father, Ald. Percy Harry Goodwin of Kew, and said:

"We decided this was the only way for everyone's happiness. Please don't blame us and do try to forgive even though you never forget. Bruce, Daphne is too upset to sign."

Violinist, Heifetz And Wife Separate

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Mrs. Jascha Heifetz, the former Florence Vidor of the films, said today that she and her husband, the noted violinist, are living apart.

She told a reporter that Heifetz is living at the Beverly Hills Hotel while she is residing at Balboa, nearby beach resort. "I would prefer that anything that is said beyond this come from Mr. Heifetz," she added.

Heifetz could not be reached for comment.

Film Producer Sued

LOS ANGELES (AP)—F. J. Producer David Seznick was named Wednesday in a $150,000 damage suit by writers Ketti Frings and Fritz Rotter, who allege he prevented their marketing a screen story. They accuse the producer of claiming their story resembled one he was already producing, and claim their reputations were thus damaged.

Fog Delays Work Of U.N.O. Commission

LONDON (CP)—Heavy fogs over Britain today caused the postponement of work on the agenda for the meeting of the 51-country Preparatory Commission of the United Nations' Organization which will open here Saturday.

The executive committee of U.N.O. postponed its tasks when the arrival of Andrei A. Gromyko, Russian delegate, was delayed by the weather. It was agreed the Preparatory Commission session would open as scheduled regardless of preparations.

Dana Wilgress, head of the Canadian delegation to the Preparatory Commission, arrived here by plane from Moscow.

Maj. Gen. Goulding of Edmonton, assistant officer, British army of occupation headquarters, made the announcement of the postponement today.

Canadian military headquarters in London had no comment of Maj. Goulding's announcement.

Higashi-Kuni, whom the Emperor named Premier after Japan's surrender, had proposed that all princes, except three brothers of the Emperor, give up their royal rank.

Markets Closed

NEW YORK (AP)—Financial and commodity exchanges throughout the United States were closed today in observance of Thanksgiving Day.

Grain

WINNIPEG (CP)—Rye futures prices on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange today declined in dull trading. Most of the dealings were in initial trade when local and some selling accreted to American account appeared with this support. Losses were further extended on lack of support but dealings were stagnant most of the session. The holiday in the United States contributed to lack of outside interest in the market.

At the close prices were 3¢ to 2 cents lower with Dec. $1.90 1/4; May $1.88 1/4 and July $1.80 1/4.

Approximately 300,000 bushels of Canadian wheat was sold to the United Kingdom but that was the only export business reported.
